

UK Expansion Intro

For Naveen Thilagan · In the room: M. Rumins, J. O'Hagan (UK), VP CX

THE MEETING

Intro to extend the Clay and Claude engine to the UK business. I'm going in listen-first to understand their motion, with the running engine on hand as a live proof point, and I'll read whether they'd want their own build. Nothing's decided in the room.

ON SCREEN

The US Star Ratings engine, live: 143 verified committee contacts across 32 parents, every row gated, Wave 1 of 36 (21 Stars/Quality, 15 Finance) in draft, nothing sent. Second motion, back office, stood up in about two days: 59 verified contacts across 15 accounts, US and UK, at ~1.46 credits each. Spend logged line by line in an append-only ledger.

143 / 32 COMMITTEE CONTACTS / PARENTS	36 WAVE 1, GATED IN DRAFT	59 BACK-OFFICE SAMPLE · US + UK	~864 / 5,000 CREDITS MTD / BUDGET

THE ARGUMENT

Everything but sourcing forks to a new market at zero credits: universe tables, grading formulas, tier logic, committee specs, gates. The engine needs one thing to work, a public, recurring, money-attached customer-service score, and the UK's isn't confirmed. Three candidates: Ofwat C-MeX (water, closest to Stars), Citizens Advice ratings (energy), FCA Consumer Duty and complaints (financial services). The vertical Intradiem wants first drives the pick.

THE ASK

OFFER A free, reversible two-week verification pass: confirm the scoring sources, pull the public tables, zero credits.	REQUESTS Vertical pick, the UK install-base and lost-deal picture, and a readout date.	HYPOTHESIS Water and C-MeX, until their input says otherwise.

HELD BACK

No live sends; every row stays gated. No UK numbers I haven't verified, so C-MeX timing stays "autumn" until confirmed. No scoping a build in the room. Rumins stays surname-only until I confirm his first name (Steve vs Matt).
